

Circle of Being

Many of us are on a path of discovering our true nature. It is a path in which self-inquiry is the key to look beyond who we think we are, and find the treasure inside of oneself. With every step on a path of genuine self-inquiry, identifications with that which one is not, 'the mental concepts of oneself', are dissolved. This leads to true freedom and to true authenticity.

In a Circle of Being we are together in an environment in which through interaction, exercises and extensive guidance we jointly create an opportunity to do such a realization. We solely rely on our own awareness to be led into a 'new' space inside of ourselves, by letting the mud of conditioning go. As such, our natural intuitiveness and 'clear seeing' is given an opportunity to rise. A Circle is a safe space with like-minded people, in which you get a chance to deeply look at yourself through the mirroring with others, with a lot of joy.

What we practice in the Circle is not lost after you went home, as you can always depend on what is always with you.
